

About Columbia Music School

Columbia Music School is a program founded by Odyssey Chamber Music Series' Artistic Director Ayako Tsuruta, supported by the MU School of Music director Dr. Julia Gaines. Together with music teachers Bomi Kim and Andrew Weir, Ayako Tsuruta conducts Saturday morning classes in Fall 2022/Spring 2023 semesters, offering music classes to pre-collegiate students who want to explore more about music, and make music together. Columbia Music School is sponsored by the Odyssey Chamber Music Series and the MU School of Music.

Class Descriptions

Class	Description	Eligibility
Theory I	By inquiry only; schedule may be irregular.	For children under 10
Theory II	Continue to develop musical basics: Learn to identify intervals and triads, the circle of 5 th s, key signatures and scales. This class encourages understanding the fundamentals of music, while thinking beyond the notes on the staff, and listening with more intention.	Open to children ages 10 or above. Younger students with prior theory class experience may be accepted with consent.
Theory IV	After reviewing Level III (Kjos), learn the harmonic function of the chords and progressions, forms and structure; identifying V7 th chords (analysis) and listening and identifying cadences.	Open to children age 12 or above; students must be fluent with “Theory III” materials.
Piano Ensemble	Discover the fun of making music together with another pianist through 4-hand, 6-hand or 8-hand on one or two pianos. Repertoire and ensemble partners are dependent on the enrollment. Spring semester goal: To perform in the “Kids@Heart” event.	Open to all interested pre-collegiate students.
Chamber Music	Discover making music together with other instruments, such as piano trios (piano & strings) and possibly more. Enrollment contingent on the availability of the players’ schedules and coaches; coaching is scheduled according to what works the best for all the musicians.	Private instructions only. This class is full for 2022. Best time to inquire: Spring 2023.
